

Life is a Dream

3rd November 2017

Life is a dream;

A dimension of hope,

of plans and of decisions.

We are living in the present and creating the future now.

While we recall our memories,

We are in the past

And we might change the present.

Present, past and future;

We live in a world of mixture of tenses

And when we reach a point,

when we can change the future,

We should grab the moment

In order to have a better life,

My Dad passed away in July,

Which cannot be changed.

But when I collect his memories and writings

To compose a book of memoir,
His past might become a book in the present
So his life will not be just a memoir of past deeds
But I can show his soul in the present,
Which can inspire others in the future.
Oh, My Lord, help me write this book,
A wreath of his life, a tribute, a statue
Like his figure and personality had been vivid,
To show a great life of a man, my Dad.
My Lord, give me strength to overcome
The Dream of Life.
